CHRISTOPHER'S WEEKLY MESSAGE

Here are four quick things you ought to know, each of which are an essential part of our common life in the next three weeks.

- We are one week into our pledge drive. This is where we are each encouraged to fill out a card with the amount of money we intend to give in 2015. This helps plan our budget. Please be generous.
- If someone you love has died in the last year or so, please let us know by a week from today. That way, when we celebrate All Saints' Day on November 2nd, we can read their name aloud as one of those in whose memory we are celebrating the Eucharist. This is called the Necrology.
- Be sure and pencil in the appropriate dates for the Bazaar. Muscle is needed the afternoon of November 5th. Brains are needed on November 6th. Wallets are encouraged on November 8th and 9th!
- The next day, Monday, November 10th, we lose the use of Duncan Hall Monday through Friday during the day for the rest of the year. This is because the school is installing a new bathroom and will be using the Hall as a temporary classroom. All our activities will continue, most of them in either the Church or the Upper Room. Please be alert, patient and kind!

Blessings,
Christopher

San Quentin Guest Program. As part of its ministry for death row inmates at San Quentin, members of St. Paul's have been hosting the mother of one inmate who drives from Bakersfield every week to visit her son. This loving service has been a literal Godsend for Sue Merriman; the expenses otherwise associated with her weekly visitations would be prohibitive.

To continue providing this assistance for the near future, we are asking for volunteers who have space in their homes on Saturday night. Sue brings her own bedding and sees to her own meals.

This call for volunteers is prompted by the fact that two members who have been providing ongoing lodging for Sue for nearly two years have the need now to accommodate some of their own family members. One expects to resume her role as host when her own family's needs are addressed and the other member is able to continue hosting Sue once monthly.

Each of the involved members can attest to the outstanding qualities of Sue, who, when possible, attends the 8 a.m. service at St. Paul's. Her dedication as a mother is additional testament to the person she is, leaving Bakersfield, as she does, every Saturday at 3 a.m. to get to San Quentin in time for her 8 a.m. visit with her son, Justin, and returning Sunday for a second visit before driving back home.

If you are interested in responding to this need for lodging one or more times a month or wish further information please contact Richard Olive (415.259.9198 or ollipops@comcast.net)
